VOL. XXI—NO. 6414 PORTLAND, OREGON: THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1881. PRICE—TEN CENTS

THE ELECTIONS.

Gives the Mahone Candidate 10,000 Majority.

THE VERY CLOSE, WITH REPUBLICAN PROSPECTS.

Probably Elects Bailey, the State by a small Majority—Congress.—In Maryland Re-Counting is Very Slowly.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—One hundred and ninety-two counties of New York and Kings county show majority for governor of 9951, a net democratic gain of 1, sufficiently complete to warrant the statement, but Aldermen Fritz, republican, for supervisor-at-large, has probably been elected over John Dillmier, democrat. Democratic gains of supervisors the republicans have a majority.

Following is the vote on the state ticket in 192 districts for Carr, republican, for secretary of state, 451,466. The vote in five districts not counted is 3,000. The democratic majority on the face of the returns is 557, compared with the official majority in Brooklyn in 1880.

The official vote of New York city: For secretary of state, Republican, 39,383; Carr, republican, 39,383; Hall, democrat, 39,383; Maxwell, democrat, 39,383; Republican, 39,380. Flowers' majority in this city is 3600 at least.

It appears from the returns that the state is democratic by 1,000. Eighteen democratic senators and 10 republican senators; 67 democrats and 61 republicans assembly members.

The unusual light vote was polled in the counties outside of the large cities. Returns received show that the republicans, with the exception of Hunted or state senator by a small majority—probably 100. The result as regards the legislature, the latest returns indicate, is a tie, and that the assumptions to 63 democrats.

Governor Cleveland and Lieutenant-Governor Gibbs, republican candidates for re-election, are in doubt, but they are probably elected by small majorities, the above estimate. Stenhouse's defeat of Surrogate Colvin by a small majority. The result as regards the latest returns indicate a tie, and that the assumptions to 63 democrats.

Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9.—One hundred and ninety-one towns and cities, including Milwaukee and embracing two-fifths of the state, will interior republican precincts to hear from, give a net democratic gain of eight thousand two hundred and ninety-eight. The democratic state central committee claims a good show for carrying the state, and claim Democratic Treasurer Falk positively. The republican state central committee is not five of the election of their entire ticket by from 5000 to 6000. Private advices from prominent republicans in the interior seem to insure the success of the republican ticket. Returns come in slowly. The vote is not over sixty per cent of the usual vote, and the loaded condition of a large portion of the northern part of the state is assigned as a reason. Prohibitionists have drawn at least 12,000 or 15,000 votes from the republicans.

In Colorado.

DENVER, Nov. 8.—The county and city election passed off quietly. The republican claim 500 majority on Mayor White's ticket, the opposition, conceded 100 majority. The republican sheriff is probably elected by the usual majority. Returns from other points in the state, indicate that Denver is selected as the permanent capital.

Full returns from this city give Morris, republican, for mayor, 369 majority over the greenbacker and people's candidate, county returns with two precincts to hear from, give Spangler, republican, for sheriff, 916 majority, a republican gain over 1880 of about 200. A low estimate places Denver's majority over all for the permanent capital, at about 10,000.

In Nebraska.

OMAHA, Nov. 9.—Returns from the election are incomplete. The state is undoubtedly republican by a large majority, and most of the counties are believed to be carried also by the republicans. The woman's at ffrage question will not be acted upon till next year.

OMAHA, Nov. 8.—This is an off year in Nebraska, the only state officers voted for being a judge of the supreme court and two university regents. Republican candidates are elected by the usual majority of over 15,000. They are Samuel Maxwell, judge of supreme court, and L. E. Fifield and Lucius Pierce, university regents. In this county elections there has been a great deal of scratching, Republicans have gained everywhere. In this Douglas county, the entire republican ticket is probably elected by majorities ranging from 200 to 600. A light vote was cast in this city owing to the muddy condition of the streets, total number of votes 3371,—about 1000 less than usual. Out of this number there were 748 a straight republican tickets, and 374 democratic, the balance being scratched tickets.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Herald says: The elections in New York and the other state yesterday may be briefly summed up. There was no disorder here, although much subdued excitement existed in congressional and senatorial districts. The state is somewhat in doubt, owing to imperfect returns, but the latest indications are that the democrats have a small majority, the latest estimate being 5000. Carr, the republican candidate for secretary of state, seems to have run ahead of his ticket, and it will be full returns may prove his election. As to the state senate the democrats have made considerable gains, but it is doubtful whether they will have a majority on the final count. The assembly appears to have been secured by the republicans again. Hogan in the 6th, Seward in the 15th and Everett in the 16th senatorial districts are all defeated. In this city Sessions has encountered a other Waterloo. Colvin, for surrogate, has been unquestionably defeated by Rollins, the republican candidate, and McLean, for district attorney, by an overwhelming majority. The democratic have elected six of seven state senators and a majority of assemblymen in this county. Indications are that the regular democrats have secured six of the district aldermen, the republicans securing seven and Tammany only three. Indications are that the republicans have succeeded in electing their marine court judge. Most of the democratic candidates for civil justices have been elected, including Morton, Campbell, Clancy and McGown.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The democratic majority in the city for secretary of state is 40,000. Husted, for state treasurer, runs 7000 behind the republican state ticket in the city. Hardy, democrat, for congress, defeats Flower, democrat, by 9000 majority. Although the election in this city is regarded as a decisive defeat of Tammany, that organization has secured the election of its favorite candidate.

Tribune: The vote of New York state has been light and the result seems to be in doubt. The democratic majority of New York city on the state ticket is at mated at 36 000, as was put 37,000 local democratic majority in 1879, and in Kings county at 2766 as against 17,000 local democratic majority in 1879. Total democratic majorities in New York and Kings county are Carr, 12,347, and Purcell, 10,358, a republican gain of 2018.

Estimate of the state on this basis would give Carr a majority outside of New York and Brooklyn 37,026, leaving the result apparent y in doubt until official returns are received. The name of Gen. Husted, republican candidate for state treasurer, was extensively scratched, and he is undoubtedly defeated. The legislature is close in both houses and official returns may be needed to determine its complexion. It is said, there will hardly be a difference of more than 100 votes between Pitts and Bailey in the Rochester district. Democratic senators have been elected in Long Island, West Chester, Albany, Buffalo and the eighth New York district, now represented by republicans. Should the senate be tied the vote of Lieutenant governor would give a decision of party matters to republicans. On the first imperfect returns the assembly seems to show a bare democratic majority. Roswell P. Flower, democrat, defeats a republican for congress; John Hardy, democrat, is elected and Chas. Connor, republican, in the western district, Idaho elected.

The World claims the state by about 30,000 and a majority in both branches of the legislature. Senate, 17 democrats, 15 republicans; assembly, 68 democrats at 6 60 republicans.

The Sun in a second edition says: Later figures reduce the Sun's estimate from 30,000 democratic majority to a very close election and most results are in doubt.

WASHINGTON CITY.

An Obnoxious Officer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The commission of Peter C. Shannon, as chief justice of Dakota, expires with this month. All the leading lawyers of Yankton, have filed in the department of justice complaints on his arbitrary action, which will prevent his reappointment.

A State Subject.

In the Christiancy divorce case to-day Victor Christiancy v. Emma Ainsworth, Esq., testified that letters submitted by Gro as received from Mrs. Christiancy were in the handwriting of Mrs. Christiancy.

The Newark Bank Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The comptroller says the amount to be paid depositors at Newark, depends on the amount received from Nugent. Who is understood to hold a million dollars' worth of land. Comptroller Knox thinks a great portion of this can be recovered.

A Small Offering.

Only $2300 continued taxes were offered to the department to-day, under the recent treasury order.

A Chance for Beer Experts.

Commissioner Raum intends to cause a general examination of material used all over the country in the manufacture of beer.

Financial Matters.

National bank notes received for redemption, $75,000. Receipts of U. S. bonds at treasury department for redemption under 105th call, including those to-day, $8,786,700.

Argument Closed.

Argument on information in the star route case closed to day and Judge Cox announced he would probably give a decision to-morrow.

A Large Reduction.

The disbursements of the quarter master general's department for the fiscal year are $1,765,220 less than the appropriation of $13,837,18.

General Items.

The land Pacific railroads earned during the year for military transportation $146,038, withheld by the secretary of the treasury to be applied to the indebtedness of their companies to the United States. The total value at tariff rates of service rendered the war department by railroads during the year, $1,617,680.

The department of justice is considering the matter of a reappointment of Peter C. Shannon, chief justice of Dakota, and if no charges filed to prevent reappointment. Both charges are always preferred against territorial officers designing reappointments.

Garfield memorial hospital fund, $830.

Commissioner Raum received a telegram this afternoon from Virginia, which says unless all our carnival outlines this morning are circumvented he has elected Cameron by three thousand majority, and carried the legislature.

The Washington Post explains the present peculiar phenomenal season thus: "I formerly a large part of the appropriation for the weather bureau was snowballed; now it is all expended for weather. Hence the superfluity.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Regular Election Murders in Mississippi.

AUSTRALIA GOLD COMING FOR PACIFIC COAST WHEAT.

A Tenement House Falls in New York City and Buries Its Inmates in the Ruins—Some of the Yorktown Guests Coming to this Coast.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—There is no quiet for a very marked revival of activity on the Pacific coast as a result of speculation at the exchange, and interior grain operators have been putting up the price of wheat mainly for the benefit of Russian and California markets. Exports from Atlantic ports last week were only 70,392 barrels flour, as against 133,797 barrels for the corresponding week last year, and 733,929 bushels of wheat as against 2,112,461 bushels last year. San Francisco received the other day a consignment of $1,042,750 of Australian gold to pay shipments of California wheat to Europe. If gold which has heretofore been going to Europe shall become diverted to San Francisco from Australia the movement will be of same moment to the United States as a whole, as if it were carried by way of England to New York, to the extent that if California shall be supplied from Australia the yield of American mines will be permitted to come east instead of seeking nearer markets on the Pacific coast, as it would if it were needed there.

Fall of a Tenement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Early this morning a three-story tenement, corner South Fifth avenue and Grand streets, fell in, burying the occupants in the ruins. The fire department, up to 9 o'clock, with the assistance of citizens, extracted five victims, two dead and the others considerably injured. How many were in the building at the time of the accident is not known. Removal of debris is being pushed with all speed. The ground floor of the building was occupied as a liquor store and the upper portion by tenants. Mary Bold and John Rudolph with his four children, were taken out of the ruins slightly injured. May Saville was probably fatally injured. All were sent to the hospital. Firemen have taken out the dead bodies of Francis Knaup and son. Catherine Bader was also taken out fatally injured. The whole fire department are exploring the ruins.

The calamity of the fallen house proves greater than first reported. Mr. Hill, who occupied the first floor, is severely injured. His wife and two children are still in the ruins. Mrs. Hill is believed to have been heard speaking beneath the ruins, and she may be taken out alive. Mrs. Bademon, 34 years old, was severely crushed. Mrs. Knaup and son and Mrs. Rudolph were killed, four children and Mr. Wolf are missing, and four children of Mr. Sapley killed. Loss of property, $20,000.

The firemen rescued Mrs. Hill. She was recovered, burned. A list of the dead is found to number seven. John Thompson, a negro 86 years of age, and Frank and Chester Hill, two children, are added to those already found. It is believed that many dead will be brought to light as the excavation proceeds.

Will Visit California.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Herald alluding to the breaking up of the French delegation this morning says quite a number of the party are determined not to leave America without having seen the western States of California, and thence depart right for San Francisco. Among these are the brothers Sahune Comte Beaumont M. De Nouilly and Dubouille, and several others. They go first to St. Louis, thence to Chicago, and from there to San Francisco, stopping at its all resting places a day or so, in order to see as much as possible of the country. They will return via New Orleans in a month's time.

For La Belle France.

Marquis De Rochambeau and wife sailed this morning for France. A large number of friends gathered to see them sail.

The Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The demand for bonds increases daily, probably because of important movements by foreign bankers. Several European syndicates have recently sent here to take such bonds. Railway bonds: Could it be alleged that the Union Pacific will be eighty before Christmas. The success of Gould in the Erie election will end the railroad war immediately. Insiders who sold out on prospect of Vanderbilt winning the Union Pacific, are buying back their stock. The Northwest company is said to be earning 18 per cent per annum. The Wabash is taking advantage of the opportunity to advance rates at all points not touched by competing roads.

Killed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Chas. Miller was shot last night by William Terry, a saloon keeper, and died early to-day. Both were well known sporting men.

Blood Will Hangs around.

Among the callers on the president to day besides Roscoe Conkling were Marquis de Roch ambeau and John W. Mackey and Senator Miller, of California.

Another Newspaper reported Sold.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—A report telegraphic from here that a Chicago congressman and a government official had purchased an interest in the Inter-Ocean is authoritatively denied. Mr. Nixon, who has controlled the paper for the last six years, says there is no truth in the report, and that he still owns the controlling interest, and has no idea of parting with it.

The Mississippi Riot.

MERIDIAN, Nov. 8.—The sheriff's posse, consisting of about 100 men, surrounded Ed. Vance's house to capture the instigators and perpetrators of the murders at Marion station, this morning, and demanded the surrender of which was refused. John Vance, aged 21, a son of Ed. Vance, riddling a pointed gun at the posse and was shot dead. O. G. Warren of the posse was killed instantly by a shot fired from the inside of the house. Ed. Vance and the negroes escaped. Several negroes escaping were shot at and wounded. Will Vance was captured and lodged in jail. The sheriff received a slight wound from a spent bullet; Hardie Jones of the posse was slightly wounded. Vance and the negroes had fought desperately all day from inside the house, and thus having advantage it was difficult to capture them. The names of the killed at the polls this morning are as follows: Harvey, Joseph Barnett, Jeff Segars and Vance Segars, and James Hodges and Levi Moore wounded the former seriously and the latter slightly. Ed Vance, who is charged with leading the riot, is a white man and an acknowledged leader of the republican party in Lauderdale county. When he fled to the woods and escaped from the sheriff's posse he was accompanied by fifty negroes, who were barricaded with him in his house.

A Man of Varied Accomplishments.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9.—Dr. J. Clay Mildee, white, in repelling an attack on election inspectors, was shot dead by some person in the crowd behind him. As a surgeon in the confederate service he acquired with Gen. Beauregard. He also had a street affray with a journalist in Richmond, killed a physician of Alexandria in a duel and had been tried for committing an abortion.

A Fatal Quarrel.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 9.—Jas. R. Montfore shot and killed Wm. Sardousta at Fieldville last night while quarrelling over the result of the election.

Railroad Accident.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9.—A freight train on the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington railroad jumped the rails at South Covington through some unascertained cause and demolished several cars and killed Conductor J. P. Love.

Will Scrub no More.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 9.—Frank W. Reid sauser, a young German, employed as scrubber in a Turkish bath establishment, has fallen heir to $75,000. He graduated at Paris, and speaks six languages. At the close of the Franco-German war he came to the United States to seek his fortune, with poor success hitherto.

Prison Reform Convention.

The prison convention held a preliminary meeting last evening of W. M. G. A. hall. The president of the convention, Ira P. Rankin, presided. The attendance was large, delegates embracing members of the bar, clergy, and representative men generally, and the proceedings were characterized by much interest. The opening address was delivered by Gov. Gbg. C. Perkins, who reviewed the work of the California prison commission during its existence of 16 years. A committee of five was appointed on organization and credentials. During the evening the convention was addressed by Rev. T. J. Elliot of Portland, on prison reform; Rev. Dr. Wentworth, who was secretary of the prison commission also read an interesting paper. The convention adjourned to meet to-morrow morning.

A discussion of the pardoning power and the punishment of unfaithful offenders ensued, followed by the reading of a paper from the board of charities, of Illinois, by the secretary.

An Epidemic of Fires.

Oakland was visited last evening by three fires all in the space of two hours, one of which was quite heavy, involving the loss of much property. The first fire was in a dwelling owned by E. P. Taylor, corner Willow an Seward stree ts; loss, $1500; small insurance. The second fire was in a large dairy, hay, wood and coal depot owner by Fisher & Taylor, corner Brush in and First streets. The building and contents were wholly destroyed. Loss will reach $30,000. Insurance, $10,000. The third fire was in the grain and hay depot of W. T. Sagehorn, corner Linden and First streets. Loss, $5000.

Sunflowers in California.

A Sacramento dispatch says: It is now of the fact that a number of cases of sunflower have been reported via the Central Pacific railroad by immigrants from Chicago, and that four counties of the state have become infected from this source, the state board of health has adopted a communication to the governor, recommending that overland immigrant trains be inspected at Truckee or some point near the boundary of the state, and if any persons be found to present evidence of variola they and the car or cars in which they are passengers be quarantined, the cars disinfected and all other passengers undergo compulsory vaccination gratuitously. The board also recommends the inspection of express trains. The governor replies, suggesting the posting of inspectors both on the Central and Southern Pacific lines and placing at the disposal of the board, if necessary, the legislative appropriation for its uses, such funds as may be disbursed in case of extraordinary emergencies. The railroad companies promise co-operation, and the board of health will at once arrange the details of quarantine.

Dividend.

The Marysville Bank Failure.

MARYSVILLE, Nov. 9.—The suspended Marysville savings bank owes depositors $445,894. Its outstanding loans on real estate are $398,100. The bank owns real estate valued on its books at $108,515. Nearly all of it is the bank was forced to purchase on foreclosures. The bank's business is confined to loans on real estate. It was incorporated in 1869 on a purely mutual basis. The last dividend of ten per cent to depositors was made per bably be paid next month. No fault is charged, and shrinkage in real estate accounts for the suspension.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Shipping and Miscellaneous Notes.

VICTORIA, Nov. 8.—The bark Andrew Robinson, 66 days from Manilla, arrived in Royal Roads on Sunday. She goes to Portland to load wheat for the United Kingdom. The ship City of Brooklyn, also arrived, experienced very rough passage from Montevideo. Short y after leaving that port she met with a terrific southeast storm. Then the trip round the Horn was also tedious and d fficult. Two of her sailors died on the passage, and another attempted suicide, serious y mutilating himself in a fit of insanity. The unfortunate man is now in confinement. It is feared that he is permanently bereft of reason. Captain Patterson is also confined to his ship by sickness.

The steamer Grappler has arrived from Wrangel and way ports. Mr. John Walsh, government prospector, is one of the passengers. Mr. Walsh and his company started off in two dis ctions, after getting well up Skeena, in order to get over a larger district of country, each detachment being supplied with Indian help. They examined thoroughly all the mountain range on each side of this river, prospecting every stream coming in from that direction. The country there is not a gold-bearing one to any extent. The party then struck over a low divide, not more than ten miles across, to streams emptying into the Pinkney branch of the Peace river. This section of the province has the appearance of being much more likely to produce gold in paying quantities. Slate and quartz were found in abundance, and small prospects in many places. Some twenty-five or thirty streams were visited and named, in what is called the bear lake region. By the time the party reached those s reams the season was far advanced, and the time would not admit of a very thorough examination. The mountains are heavily wooded, but the valleys are open and grassy, and particularly free from fallen and thick timber. In this respect the prospecting were not hindered in the least. Moose, carribo bear, grouse and other kinds of game were found in the greatest abundance, it being no uncommon thing to have a couple of carribou in the camp at the same time. Fish were also wonderfully plenty. The party penetrated fully 360 miles into the interior of the country. The prospectors are fully of the opinion that placer diggings will be found on the tributaries of the Findlay, and that a season spent in that region would develop a mining region that would pay, if not largely, at least good wages. Finder, although not abundant enough to be troublesome, is not to be found in sufficient quantities for all purposes. Grass in the greatest profusion covers all the valleys and far up the sides of the mountains. In fact nothing appears to be lacking to supply in a manner a mining population, if gold can be found in paying quantities, and every member of the party is of the opinion that this is only a question of time and a little more perseverating exploration.

VICTORIA, Nov. 8.—The U. S. revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott arrived in the harbor at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Capt. Shoddar reports a great deal of wreckage in the straits. He picked up a light box perfectly water tight, which was labeled white on the outside and green inside, and also picked up two or three life preservers. He supposes they are from some wrecked craft here.

GUITEAU.

Presentation of a Jewel to Sir Knight R. P. Earhart, by Oregon Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar—An Interesting Occasion.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—In criminal court in session, Scoville asked Judge Cox to decide of his request for papers in the hands of the justices of peace, and for postponement of trial. The judge was ready to decide, if anxious to accommodate, he could not do so without mutual consent, and he could not answer the decision of papers sought to Scoville, but that the prosecution had assured him yesterday privately he would be allowed to examine the papers in their possession.

In response to Scoville's argument, Corkhill said the papers demanded being evidence, he would not concede the right of any person to them. He never received any communication of any kind addressed to Corkhill, and had nothing of the kind in his possession.

Scoville said he would to-morrow present the affidavit of Warner Crocker regarding the matter.

Guiteau said he would to-morrow present the affidavit of Warner Crocker regarding the matter. Scoville did not desire such letters addressed to the prisoner, (there were) he understood, certain printed documents or printed letters address. In connection with all people of the United States the court was entitled to examination of them to establish existing public laws; also, a printed book, the property of the prisoner, which had been taken from him during the past six weeks. Before the court was committed Guiteau was engaged in arranging that book along its margin, altering, correcting and adding to it, and these were important as bearing on the condition of the prisoner's mind and moral responsibility. Counsel for defense had the right to those documents and not through the grace of the district attorney. Three weeks ago Guiteau prepared a communication for publication and sent it in an envelope with a note to Himself Scovil. The warden brought it to his room but not finding him left it with the district attorney. That letter and communication he had been unable to get after repeated application, and he left the matter to the court.

Judge Cox said that he should say that Scoville was entitled to these papers but in the absence of the district attorney could not make any order. As to the book returned to yesterday, the district attorney told Robinson he would give a copy of it to Scoville; but a copy is not sufficient. The court thought the latter could be arranged without any formal order. There would be no difficulty on that score.

Scoville replied he desired not the inspection of the papers in the supervision of the district attorney, but he considered those papers as a matter of right to take and revise with his associate counsel. The court could be accepted for and their contents noted. There were certain clippings from newspapers made by Guiteau during six weeks before the shooting. These clippings evidenced influences brought to bear on the prisoner's mind, and motives which operated on Lane and were valuable at bearing on the insanity theory. Supposing letters had been written the prisoner during that time by accomplices, instigating him to act, and understand by his mental condition, would not counsel for the prisoner be entitled to their production in order to show their influence on his mind.

Guiteau's Witnesses.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—An U. S. deputy marshal to-day summoned for the defense in the Guiteau case, the following named witnesses: Wood-Damon, Dana Estabrook, Jr., Frank Bearded, and Frank L. Unlon, the witnesses to report in Washington the 14th inst. John W. Guiteau, the assassin's brother, is cautioned to bring thirty-six letters and two family bibles, to be used in evidence.

Guiteau's Letters.

Scoville in a judicial court to-day stated that the warden of the prison had yesterday taken a letter from Guiteau to him and giving it to the district attorney and declined to make an affidavit, despite plighted for troubling the court but will bring the matter up during the trial.

The Daily Oregonian

THURSDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 10, 1881.

AN OLD GRUDGE.

Our French and German guests who came over to participate with us in commemoration of the crowning victory of American independence exhibited their dislike for each other in ways that on more than one occasion approached discourtesy and incivility. The French seemed to be piqued that so much attention was paid to the descendants of Baron Steuben. France was our declared and active ally, and aided with a powerful force both by land and sea in the achievement of the decisive victory at Yorktown; while Steuben was only "a soldier of fortune," aiding us on his own account. Hence it seemed to the French that the German party ought not to have so great honors as were accorded to themselves. Of course this was not said in plain terms, but it is the obvious interpretation of the manner and action of the Frenchmen. Behind it all is the national hatred existing between the two countries, which manifests itself even when their representatives are guests of a people entirely friendly to both. It certainly can give the independent chronicler of events no pleasure to note the signs of undiminished hostility between two such nations. It is just to say, however, that the aversion was more strongly exhibited by the French than the German participants in the hospitalities at Yorktown and elsewhere. Without pausing to comment on the bad manners exhibited on an international occasion by the representatives of the nation which is a model of deportment to the world, the fact itself may be noted as significant evidence of the uncontrollable hatred cherished by the French people against their conquerors in the late struggle. While this feeling is decently and prudently suppressed in all governmental transactions and relations between the two powers, it crops out on every occasion in which individual and national feeling can be shown, without an overt commitment, and reveals the settled determination of France to try conclusions again when the circumstances are propitious. The German government has pursued a quiet course of aggravation, fomenting all sources of hostility against France found in the animus of other powers, while keeping up a fair show of amity, ostensibly, with the French government. It would appear that Bismarck is in no way unwilling for a breach of the peace but wishes to place France in a disadvantageous position. France he has pulled wires so as to produce a bad state of feeling between Italy and France, but lately has declined to receive a visit from King Humbert lest it might seem to be indicative of a hostile attitude to the French government. With powder and fire almost touching an explosion may take place at any moment. The lapse of ten years has not relieved the French mind of the gall and bitterness of defeat, and French hatred of Germany is as intense as was German hatred of France after the aggressions of Napoleon and the battle of Jena.

It is no secret that the French have been preparing for a new trial of arms ever since their forced and ignominious peace. It has been stated that they think their army and navy in proper condition, and that the more impatient are anxious for the coming of the day when they shall strike for their lost honor and the recovery of their captured territory. The French government exhibits no sympathy with this spirit, but the military circles have long enough been engaged in fomenting the feeling. Germany is ready. Unbiased observers, who have minutely examined the military resources and preparations of the two nations, say with much unanimity that the new contest would terminate as the former one did, only with greater consequences. With all their military spirit and genius, it is said that the French are far from having attained, in the organization of their army, the excellence and minute efficiency that has marked the German military arm since Von Moltke has had the superintendence of affairs. Doubtless there are some cool heads in France, like Grevy, who see and know this and a war cannot be precipitated without an earnest protest, which would be backed by the commercial influence of the world. Egypt, Tunis and Turkey constitute present irritants that cause friction; but if these points are ruled over peaceably, some other time will occur, with the general disposition in favor of a hostile settlement. The recent meeting of the three emperors at Dantzic is interpreted by France as another menace to her, whether it ought to bear that construction or not. Such incidents deepen the impression of Frenchmen that they must yet fight out the old grudge with their historical enemies.

A TEMPERANCE COLONY.

There is a new thing under the sun. It is a scheme for the establishment of a temperance settlement in the Dominion of Canada, somewhere on the line of the Canadian Pacific railroad. The Dominion government is said to favor the scheme and will even grant important privileges to the projectors in aid of it. It is claimed that 10,000 temperance organizations in America and Europe are taking hold of the idea, with a view to raising money for purchase of lands and aiding colonists who may cast their lot with the undertaking. The promoters are intending to secure 2,000,000 acres of land in one block, which would make a tract of country fifty by sixty miles in extent. The land will either be located directly on the line of the Canadian Pacific or a branch railway will be built from some point on that line to and through the colony. It is said that an agreement has been effected with the Dominion government by which the land can be had at one dollar an acre, full title to be made when the money is paid. The management proposes to retain one-third of the acreage, being first choice lands in the meantime, out of the profits of which it is proposed to build railways and make other necessary improvements. The next third being average lands are now being subscribed for, and the last third, inferior in quality, will be sold afterwards for what they will bring. Any surplus profits after the railways are built are to be applied for general improvement for the benefit of shareholders. In the meantime the management have to take the responsibility and bear the outlay of preliminary expenses. The distinctive feature of the colony is to be a strictly temperance organization. Its charter will provide that no spirituous or malt liquors shall ever be manufactured, imported or sold within its limits. Canadian papers say that the promoters of the scheme have till next September to perfect their arrangements and complete the bargain with the Dominion government. Already subscriptions are coming in very rapidly from all sections of the eastern provinces, and it is expected that much material aid will be forthcoming not only from the British islands, but from the continent of Europe and the United States. The scheme will shortly be thoroughly advertised by the sending of pamphlets, circulars and other printed matter to temperance organizations throughout the world, showing the advantage of such a settlement and giving an opportunity for all so disposed to obtain stock in the lands to be offered for sale.

Extensive and valuable discoveries of petroleum have been made in Sweetwater county, Wyoming territory. A company has been formed under the name of the Rocky Mountain oil company to get the business into operation. It has made a number of experimental borings, which are highly satisfactory and claims that as soon as it can get ready to ship the product it will have wells producing 10,000 barrels a day.

Ex-Collector Thomas Murphy is beaten for Congress in New York by a vote of two to one. This is significant as a popular estimate of Grantism.

THE DEBRIS QUESTION IN CALIFORNIA

Partial stoppage of work in the placer mines on the Yuba, Feather and other rivers of Northern California by injunction, has again stirred up the "debris question" so long a serious and vexing one. A San Francisco paper, the Bulletin, prints long articles of owing in detail both sides of the question—the amount of land damaged and destroyed, and the cases to hydraulic mines through injunctions. The amount of land, according to the report of an official committee, is 286 421 acres, and the value of its damage $12,760, 335. In addition to these figures the report states that of deposits on Butte creek, on the Sacramento bottom lands in Yolo county and in Sacramento county below Sacramento City, no definite information could be obtained. The report recapitulates the total losses as follows:

Yuba county	$6,547,840
Butte county	170,550
Sutter county	6,709,400
Sacramento county	2,426,940
Total	$15,044,730
Reexamining—
Land destroyed, acres	40,050
Land damaged, acres	276,091

In addition to this specific loss is sustained, representing by what damaged lands, which for some years will be useless, would have produced each year, but for the coating of "slickens." This loss for the next ten years is estimated at $35,109,100, not including interest. There is still another important loss, that of depreciation of values of lands not damaged, in the damaged districts. The real estate assessment of the city of Marysville, the only important town seriously affected, is cited. In 1855 its total assessment was $3,354,-031. The reduction which is about fifty per cent, is claimed to have resulted wholly from deposits from the mines.

So much for one side of the question. The miners claim, in behalf of their interest, that the report from which the figures above are taken is an exaggeration, but are willing to accept, as true, a report made nearly two years ago by State Engineer Hall, to the legislature, which places the amount of land damaged or destroyed at 43,450 acres and the loss upon its value at $2,597,635. They admit that the damage has increased much in the past two years but not to the extent of the first statement. The miners make no estimate of contingent losses. It is represented that the total loss per annum to six companies if the injunctions are sustained and the mines finally stopped, will be $8,150,000. This is upon the basis of their poorest production, and takes no account of capital invested, which is very large. There are some thirty other mines which will be affected.

The figures are in favor of the land owners as against the miners; but if they were not mining, to the extent of damaging farming lands should not be allowed. The public advantages of an agricultural above a mining industry are so obvious and great that it seems useless to argue the question. Mines are seldom owned by the people in the localities where they exist and are operated, and the men employed in them are a floating unstable class. Mining does little toward development of a region. Agriculture on the contrary makes permanent homes. If the proportion of damage were ten to one in favor of the miner, it would be unwise, looking to the future, to allow damaging placer work to continue. Mining is not a creative industry. It makes no permanent wealth in the community where it is followed. Its products are sent away and lost forever to the locality, and when the mines are exhausted, as all mines must be, the mining country reverts to its original condition of solitude and desert. Wholly unlike agriculture, mining industry affords no basis of real wealth or permanent prosperity.

Geo. W. Childs and A. J. Drexel are building a model suburban town thirteen miles out from Philadelphia. They paid a quarter of a million dollars for six hundred acres of land beautifully situated, and under the direction of a landscape gardener and an engineer are expending a hundred and fifty thousand more on ornamentation, water and drainage. Avenues seventy-five feet wide divide the estate into building lots of one acre each, and are bordered by fine trees. All houses must be set back forty feet from the line of the side-walk. Purchasers select from twenty striking designs for residences of harmonious architecture, and are require to pay cash down, one-third the value of the building lot and, the house to be built. Childs and Drexel are putting up hotels, a town hall, etc. It is expected to make Wayne—for such is the name of the town—the most beautiful, cleanly, airy and healthful suburban place in the country. It will accommodate a population of three thousand.

The New York Times says: "Most of the protect ve taxes form a direct and heavy burden either on the necessaries of daily life or on the essential elements of trade and industry." An instance is cited in the case of iron. This metal, when imported, "pays a duty, in its various forms, of from 35 per cent. to 60 per cent., the average being over 41 per cent. Yet iron is absolutely and exclusively used in manufactures of some sort or other. Not a pound of it is, or can be, imported except for manufacture, and it enters into every possible trade that ministers to the wants of man. Its universal use, either in its original form or as steel, in tools, makes it an element of importance in the cost of food, shelter, and clothing, and its cost cannot be made artificially higher by limiting the competition for its supply without imposing a burden on all industry, and, indeed, on all means of living."

Reports published by the bureau of statistics show the average values of wheat at the principal exporting ports during the month of September. These were 99 cents a bushel at Portland, 97 cents at San Francisco, $1 26 at New Orleans $1 43½ at Baltimore, $1 44 at Philadelphia, $1 37½ at New York and $1 15 at Boston. Quality and ocean transportation are the fact that affect the price at the places of export. The difference of 40 cents a bushel between the New York value and that of Portland and San Francisco is, however, almost wholly due to greater cost of transportation from this coast. In fact, the difference of this cost is even more, since our wheat would be worth more at New York than the average wheat shipped from that port.

A dispatch from San Francisco furnishes the rather alarming intelligence that Chinese shoemakers in that city are employing white cutters and designers, paying them as high as $150 a month. This is reported to a convention of trade assembly delegates from the white shoemakers' union. It is one of the worst outrages yet reported in connection with Chinese competition. These white cutters and designers are taking the bread right out of John Chinaman's mouth.

It is said that President Arthur will comply with the rule of "senatorial courtesy," so far as to ascertain the wishes of senators in the matter of appointments in their respective states, but will not embarrass himself by promises. The senators, on their part, are said to be determined to stand firmly by the usage that has prevailed during the last few years. All of which makes a discouraging outlook for improvement of the civil service.

A ship has been loaded with wheat at Puget Sound, and the event has been commemorated by a banquet at Tacoma. Probably in four or five years another may be loaded there, when the event may again be celebrated by a clam bake.

His apartments were ... and a large quantity of goods, evi... result of several burglaries, were discov... articles found were a number of ... pocketknives, rolls of silk and satin, ... ready made pantaloons and under... impertinence, that that the existing laws or obstruc... tions to navigation be removed. In this city and the Pacific ocean, are the same that existed when the work of dredging and excavation was commenced under Col. Williamson, 15 years ago. The changes have been few, other than more difficulties are experienced ... The Hog's Back, a short distance from Astoria, is the first obstruction. Here the dredge is now sand. A dredge was used upon it some years ago, but owing to the rough stage of water, scows could not, with safety, lie along side the dredge to receive the deposit, hence the work of the dredge was not successful. A brig was unrigged, and supplied with better spuds, and chained at two different times has been cut through; but by this means ... Walker's Island bar.—It is only lately that this bar has been used as an obstruction to navigation. The channel never has been dredged, nor has the nature of the deposit been ascertained. It is, however, presumable the same as that on the Martins Island, forms the third obstruction, this bar has only been worked; but the nature of the deposit has been examined, and it is found to consist of sand and mud, with coarse sand and gravel on top. St. Helens bar is the fourth shoal on the Columbia river, and is the main obstruction to navigation between the Willamette river and the sea. The bar is about 2500 feet long, and if dredged to twenty-one feet at low water, would require the removal of about 1,000 cubic yards of deposit. This deposit is ... Three miles of sand and no vegetation. The mouth of the Willamette river comes next that requires attention. This barrier is 600 feet long, and would require the removal of at least 7000 cubic yards of silt to make a channel through it. If the bar was allowed to remain undredged there would only be from 9 to 12 feet of water in the present channel at low water. Rooster bar, by reason of recent permanent improvements, has been changed considerably. There will be some work however required on this bar, although not so much as formerly. Swan Island bar forms the seventh and last of the series of bar obstructions. The work required on this bar in order to obtain a channel 21 feet at low water, and 100 feet wide, would extend over 4000 feet. A great deal of work has been done upon this bar, but much more requires to be done in order to secure a suitable ship channel. On reviewing the work necessary on the seven bars in order that a channel suitable for shipping be obtained to be at least 100 feet wide and 21 feet deep at low water, from Portland to the Columbia river bar, it would be necessary to remove at least 116,000 cubic yards of deposit, which consists chiefly of sand and mud. With this amount of deposit to be removed, perhaps every year, it is the mind of your committee a very evident thing that suits no means of modern device and most approved structure should be always at hand and under the control of proper resident authorities, in order that the work required may be done at the proper time. This season when a dredge can be successfully worked is extremely short, not exceeding 105 days in any year, and frequently a shorter period than that, 90 days being a fair average time; this comes at the close of August to the beginning of December.

Your committee would therefore recommend that a dredge be built, of the most approved description and of sufficient power to remove at least 1000 cubic yards of deposit per day of ten hours. This dredger would cost, with the necessary equipments, as follows:

Dredge, with machinery, woodwork, etc.....	$10,000
Three scows $18,000 each.....	6,400
Cost of operating for one year.....	6,000
Total.....	$27,400

If it is thought proper a tug be at suitable to tow the dredge could be built for $10,000 more; but in the minds of your committee this is not essential, as a tug could be procured when required at not to exceed $60 per day, which would be cheaper and preferable.

As to the plan of this dredge your committee after careful inspection of the three plans submitted, would report the plan of the old dredge, known as the clam shell pattern as not the best adapted to remove the deposit in question, and therefore not desirable. The endless chain dredge has never been tested here, that while it has many good characteristics the experience of your committee point out the fact that experiments are not always successful. An endless chain dredge would be an experiment here. In the opinion of your committee the Osgood bucket dredge of the largest size and latest improved pattern is the best adapted to remove the deposit in question. This dredge would remove 1000 cubic yards of silt and sand in ten hours, and could be procured for the amount estimated, at Albany.

Much of the work of constructing the dredge could be done in this city. A careful survey of the machinery of the old dredge proves the liability to breakage of clutch and slip gears and also proves the insufficiency of mitre gear when made of cast iron. These breakages occur by meeting a sudden resistance, which from the nature of dredging is constantly taking place. Therefore it is desirable as much as possible to avoid this class of gearing, and where necessary to be used as all to substitute steel for cast iron. The Osgood portable cover buckets of this machinery that is actually required. The appliances of power by the connection of hydraulic and steam cylinders to the down haul and to the raising of the dredge bucket avoid eg almost totally clutch gear, and using only steel mitre wheels for the revolving disk where the strain does not vary much.

Then further we examined and compared the manner of applying the brake to the hoist and the levers by hydraulic power used in the Osgood system, and it is certainly preferable to any other known to your committee.

As to question of ways and means to construct the proposed dredge, your committee have consulted and obtained the written opinions of three of the best known capitalists in our city and they all agree that the city has a right to levy a tax of five mills for the purpose of removing obstructions to navigation in the Willamette river. Section 136 of the city charter provides especially for this purpose. This tax can be levied any year for this purpose.

The operations of a city dredge must of necessity be confined to the city front and not extend further than the mouth of the Willamette river. There is, however, ample work within this scope to keep this dredge fully employed, and it will not be necessary at any time for the dredge to go beyond the mouth of the Willamette river.

In addition to the tax of five mills the city of Portland has a right to issue bonds and pledge its credit for this purpose to amount of $100,000. There has been issued by this city, prior to the present date $74,500 in these bonds. Hence there remains the right to issue $25,500 in city bonds. Five per cent bonds, if issued by the city, would sell at par—no parties here whose solo business is finance assure your committee—and your committee fully believe that this sale of bonds could be readily effected if required. That the city of Portland has this right under the charter is unquestionable. As to the necessity of exercising this right every man who has the interest of the city at heart can readily understand that if Portland is to maintain her supremacy as an entrepot and distributing centre; if she desires to avail herself of the benefit of commerce that her natural position has placed in her possession, she must be liberal in supplying means for an easy ingress and exit for the ships of the world. This is a subject in which the city of Portland is directly interested; one that tends to its direct and immediate prosperity.

Your committee would then recommend that the mayor of this city at the earliest opportunity bring before the common council this subject for their consideration, and recommend the levy of a three mill tax for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a dredge of the power required, and of the best and most approved pattern; further that he recommend at the proper time the issuance of $20,000 five per cent bonds, or so much thereof as may be necessary after the sum reached by the three per cent tax shall have been exhausted.

This dredge would keep clear the ship channel in the Willamette river. The one owned by the United States, and now nearly complete, would find ample room for its power and capabilities in clearing the bars on the Columbia river from the mouth of the Willamette river to Astoria.

Your committee would next call your attention to the present condition of the Columbia river bar. Work on this bar is quite as necessary and vital as upon any other obstruction to navigation that exists between Portland and the sea. This work will perhaps be costly, and the means to be provided of a different class, and more extensive than the simple removal of a river bar. If a dredge be employed it will require one of a different character and power to the one we have recommended for use in the Willamette river. The Columbia bar dredge should be self-propelling and capable of going to sea, or resisting a considerable sea, and should be of the endless chain variety, working from the side of the ship. That such a dredge could be built here and suitable machinery procured for it cannot be questioned by your committee. But it is quite a question whether this plan of dredging the Columbia river bar is the best one or not. The restoration of the shoal line at or near Fort Stevens might be accomplished and this certainly would be successful in the establishment of a ship channel to give a greater depth of water than twenty-five feet. In other case, however, it is quite evident that funds will be required and a considerable amount—whether to build a sea-going dredge or to build permanent improvements on the old shore line of Clatsop. Another plan has been submitted by D. H. McBean, which is to do the laying of perforated pipes at the shoals upon the sand; then by hydraulic power forcing jets of water through the perforations, so as to blow up the deposit, enabling the tide and other currents to carry it away to deeper parts. This plan your committee has examined and would recommend that it be tested as soon as practical by the United States government upon the Columbia river bar, where the deposit is light sand only. This could be done at a reasonable cost and we believe would prove successful. The ways and means to work upon the obstruction at the mouth of the Columbia river is through our national congress, and as a board of trade, it is our duty to represent the requirements of the commerce of this great north-west to our national legislature, to call to mind the great importance of a short interesting portion of the Pacific coast, the state of Oregon, Washington, and the upper portion of Montana, benefited and drained by this great Columbia river and its confluents, a river second to none in importance emptying into American borders, save the Mississippi only. A river, which with its tributaries drains over 255,000 square miles, an area greater than all the New England states and western states to and inclusive of Missouri, and an area which contains all the great cities of the eastern portion of our nation, excepting New Orleans; an area of great and varied resources—wheat raising, fruit growing, lumber manufacturing, iron smelting, coal mining, stock raising, ship building, wool growing, mineral producing, fishing, agricultural, manufactures, commerce. In fact, a country of immense producing and exporting power. In order that the requirements of these varied interests be fully represented to the proper committees, we would urgently recommend that some suitable person conversant with the needs of our growing commerce and the present condition of the obstructions to navigation on the Columbia and Willamette rivers be sent to the city of Washington at an early day to represent this board of trade, and if possible the city council and the board of trade of Astoria and its city council; one whose energy would be directed to the one end in view, to assist our congressmen, Mr. George, and our senators, Messrs. Grover and Slater, to procure a sufficient appropriation to secure work of a character for removing the obstructions and deepen the channels of these rivers. And we would further recommend that $1000 be raised as soon as practicable for this purpose by subscriptions from our citizens and members of this board.

Again, we would desire to call your attention to the following fact: That of the fifty gentlemen who compose the committee of one hundred of the last house of representatives, not one was from the Pacific coast—not one from west of the Rocky mountains. That with the business coast line from the Gulf of California to the British possessions, with the commerce of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and part of Montana, no one member from this portion of our territory was called upon to represent it in this house. While several territories are represented on the floor of the house, Oregon alone has the power to represent this great northwest with a vote. Therefore it is desirable that suitable resolutions be passed by the board of trade, memorializing Mr. George, our congressman, and requesting him to the speaker of the house that he be placed on the committee of commerce in the house of representatives. So far as the cadets of any of the commanding members of the house from the Pacific coast, it is deemed necessary only to mention that the state of California and Nevada are already represented in the senate by committees on commerce, while Oregon and the territories of the northwest are not. Respectfully submitted.

CHAS. H. DODD, Chairman.
T. P. THOMPSON,
GEO. A. LAWRENCE.

On motion of Mr. Molson it was adopted as the sense of the board.

A resolution asserting forth the importance of the commerce of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, and asking the speaker of the next house of representatives to appoint Mr. George on the committee of commerce, was adopted.

A committee, consisting of Col. John McCraken, Wm. Molson and Chas. H. Dodd, was appointed to solicit subscriptions to defray the expenses of a representative of the board to go to Washington and urge the claims for river appropriations before the proper committees.

Mr. Thompson was selected as such representative.

Mr. George being called on to express his views concerning the improvement of the Columbia river, said the time had been when scarcely a dollar had been given the matter much careful study. He explained that the earliest survey, made in 1778, showed two channels; the next, made in 1799, showed one straight channel. The government survey in 1851 showed a channel similar to the present, while intermediate years there were at times one and at others two well defined channels. This was accounted for by the action of the currents and tides on Clatsop spit, which would extend north to ascertain point. When it had reached its greatest dimensions, it would "slough" off, so to speak, and allow a considerable portion of the volume of the Columbia to escape through a south channel. It seems that Clatsop spit has increased to the greatest dimensions, and he favored the construction of jetties to prevent it again "sloughing" off.

The secretary was instructed to ask the co-operation of the Astoria chamber of commerce in securing necessary appropriations.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. George for his presence, and to the committee for its work, after which the board adjourned.

CORRESPONDING RIVER IMPROVEMENTS.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE COMMITTEE.

Recommending that a Dredge be Built by the City—A Thorough Investigation and Sensible Report—Etc.

A special meeting of the board of trade was held last night to confer with Congressman M. C. George and to hear the report of the committee appointed some days ago, to consider the matter of river improvement. President Macleay called the meeting to order and stated its object.

The report not being quite ready, Mayor Thompson said with reference to an appropriation by the city for a dredge, that four or five eminent lawyers had expressed the opinion that the city had the right to make such appropriation. The city council were willing to levy the tax and the people were willing to hazard it. The city can raise $75,500 for a dredge without infringing on any provisions of the charter.

Mr. Chas. H. Dodd then read the following report:

To the Portland Board of Trade: Your committee appointed for the purpose of gathering information on the subject of "how best to remove the various bar obstructions lying between Portland and the sea," beg leave to make the following report:

That they, by inquiry at the office of the U. S. engineers, and by other engineers of greater or less importance, find that the existing bars or obstructions to navigation be, even to-day as at the Pacific ocean, are the same that existed when the work of dredging and excavation was commenced under Col. Williamson, 15 years ago. The changes have been few, other than more difficulties are experienced ...

The Hog's Back, a short distance from Astoria, is the first obstruction. Here the dredge is now sand. A dredge was used upon it some years ago, but owing to the rough stage of water, scows could not, with safety, lie along side the dredge to receive the deposit, hence the work of the dredge was not successful. A brig was unrigged, and supplied with better spuds, and chained at two different times has been cut through; but by this means ...

Walker's Island bar.—It is only lately that this bar has been used as an obstruction to navigation. The channel never has been dredged, nor has the nature of the deposit been ascertained. It is, however, presumable the same as that on the Martins Island, forms the third obstruction, this bar has only been worked; but the nature of the deposit has been examined, and it is found to consist of sand and mud, with coarse sand and gravel on top.

St. Helens bar is the fourth shoal on the Columbia river, and is the main obstruction to navigation between the Willamette river and the sea. The bar is about 2500 feet long, and if dredged to twenty-one feet at low water, would require the removal of about 1,000 cubic yards of deposit. This deposit is ... Three miles of sand and no vegetation.

The mouth of the Willamette river comes next that requires attention. This barrier is 600 feet long, and would require the removal of at least 7000 cubic yards of silt to make a channel through it. If the bar was allowed to remain undredged there would only be from 9 to 12 feet of water in the present channel at low water.

Rooster bar, by reason of recent permanent improvements, has been changed considerably. There will be some work however required on this bar, although not so much as formerly.

Swan Island bar forms the seventh and last of the series of bar obstructions. The work required on this bar in order to obtain a channel 21 feet at low water, and 100 feet wide, would extend over 4000 feet. A great deal of work has been done upon this bar, but much more requires to be done in order to secure a suitable ship channel.

On reviewing the work necessary on the seven bars in order that a channel suitable for shipping be obtained to be at least 100 feet wide and 21 feet deep at low water, from Portland to the Columbia river bar, it would be necessary to remove at least 116,000 cubic yards of deposit, which consists chiefly of sand and mud.

With this amount of deposit to be removed, perhaps every year, it is the mind of your committee a very evident thing that suits no means of modern device and most approved structure should be always at hand and under the control of proper resident authorities, in order that the work required ...

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS' PARADE.

A Fine Day and an Interesting Display.

The streets of the city presented an animated appearance yesterday owing to the vast crowds that assembled to see the procession of the Knights of Pythias. Many parties came in from a distance in order to be present and witness the pageant. The procession was to have moved at 1:30 P. M. sharp, but owing to the many delays incident to an occasion of this kind, it was after 2 o'clock before the body started. The Astoria lodge Chancelor Commander Dr. Jay Tuttle commanding, met in Red Men's hall, donned their uniforms and went through the evolutions of the drill before participating in the parade. Several prominent citizens of Portland paraded with this lodge. The main body of knights formed on Third street, right resting on Oliver street. The Astoria lodge formed on the east walk in front of Red Men's hall and preceded by the East Portland band, under the direction of Major Smith marched to Third street, where they took their place in the line. Grand Marshal Geo. C. Sears gave the word of command to start, when the entire procession moved over the following line of march: Up Third street to Market, down Market to First, down First to Ash, down Ash to Front, up Front to Morrison to Second, up Second to Yamhill, down Yamhill to First, down First to Caswell Hall. At Castle Hall the procession was reviewed by grand officers and then dismissed.

Following is the order in which the various lodges appeared:

Grand marshal, Geo. C. Sears, P. C.
A. d. H. J. Morrison.
East Portland brass band.
Astor lodge and aforal division, Chancellor Commander Dr. Jay Tuttle commanding.
Ununiformed division, Past Chancellor J. H. Lyon commanding.
Division of mounted knights, Past Chancellor C. C. Phillips, commanding.
Standard bearer, Past Chancellor F. B. Neale.
Portland uniform mounted division, Past Chancellor A. M. Waters commanding.
Uniform mounted division of the grand knights and visitors, Past Chancellor W. M. Cowie commanding.
The grand officers of the grand lodge of Oregon in carriages.

The grace and precision with which the members of the Astoria lodge moved elicited favorable comments along the whole line of march. The mounted knights especially appeared to advantage, and displayed fine discipline. In the evening the lodges once more assembled at Castle Hall and marched in a body to Turn Halle, where an informal reception was held. An address of welcome was made by Hon. H. Y. Thompson. This was responded to in appropriate words by Grand Chancellor D. E. Buchanan. The members of the order and their lady friends then proceeded to enjoy themselves in the dance, which continued until a late hour.

The entire occasion was a very enjoyable one, not being marred by a single disagreeable feature.

AMUSEMENTS.

Emotion and sentiment with a spice of wickedness always attract. Camille, if Camille be a pretty woman, seldom fails to draw a good house. People like to see Camille because it affords a glimpse of something not to be known or named, because it is a taste of forbidden fruit. Actresses love to play it because it gives them the appropriates of their audiences and opportunities to show their beautiful dresses. Last night Miss Liegard surprised even those who had formed the best opinions of her previous efforts. It was not alone her beauty which claimed admiration. There was power in every act, which drama tic and moving power. The support did its little best. To the credit of all be it said that they were "up" in their lines, and that there was no hitch in any part of the the performance. "Our Boy" to-night.

Mr. F. S. Dain of Oysterville sends the following account of the conduct of Capt. Al Stream, keeper of the life saving station at Southwater bay, in rescuing the crew of the British bark Lammerlaw, wrecked off the coast a fortnight ago. The isolation of the facility accounts for the fact that the whole matter has not been until now reported in THE OREGONIAN:

As soon as possible after the bark was discovered in the breakers Capt. Stream, aided by a crew of citizens (during his only absence near the station) and hasten to the relief of the crew, but his volunteers refused to serve just as their help was needed. They said they would as soon be shot as pull through those breakers. All of their courage left, and no paddle was of any avail now. Capt. Stream set them ashore disarmed to South Beach and secured a crew of experienced seamen, part of them from a lumber vessel in port, and after pulling several miles, three-fourths of a mile being against the breakers, succeeded in rescuing the entire crew, saving nothing but the wet drenched clothing in which they were dressed. Had he been forced to wait till a new lot could have been sent them every twenty-four hours sooner, and have much suffering, especially for the captain, whose shoulder was dislocated, and who sustained other severe injuries, being thrown from the wheel. One of the parties last rescued, told me they had even up all hopes, especially when they saw the first party taken through the breakers with the line rapidly growing smaller and smaller as he could have to return and get another. Only those who have had to battle for their lives can understand how to estimate such work. God, we are ashamed and sometimes tempted to have doubts. But that man was in England, and his daring bravery is only to the officials, he would have a position for life with an efficient crew at his command.

H. B. 77, Appropriating money for territorial university. This bill appropriates $1500 for painting, and repairing the building, and $600 per annum for salaries of teachers. As soon as the bill was taken up it was very evident that the circus published on the 8th inst., signed by Messrs. Skuve, Wood, Ferry and others, had been carefully considered.

Mr. Conaway having taken the floor, stated that he was opposed to the bill on the grounds that he did not believe there would be any value received in proportion to the outlay. He drew attention to the circular issued by certain persons of Seattle. If, as stated by them, the present legislature is responsible for the large sums lost already, then the fact is actually startling (?). But the speaker believed that it had gone into the politics pool, and had been swallowed up there by some one. It would be a matter of interest to learn the history of this building since its first organization. But time would fail to tell it. The institution has not paid for itself, but on the contrary has been a mill stone around the neck of the people of the territory. He was not actuated to tax the poor man for the benefit of the rich. He was opposed to such bills on principle. He ignored the fact of any venom being exhibited towards Seattle by any of the opposing members, but believed they were acting entirely on the principle of justice.

The speaker wanted to know what had become of the $4000 which had been paid during the past two years, as appears by the auditor's report. The fact is the university has been a white elephant on the hands of the territory ever since its foundations were laid, and he could not support the bill.

Mr. Holcomb did not think the people, especially his constituents, would care to see this building go by the board. Would the gentleman who preceded him let his friend die without reaching forth his hand to help him? Because its funds have been squandered by some one, is that any reason why we should let it die now?

The territory now owns three institutions and she cannot do without either of them. It is said that the taxation would only amount to 15 cents per capita, and who could not afford to pay that amount for so great a boon?

There is only one great wrong apparent on the face of the bill, and that is the smallness of the appropriation.

Mr. Judson of Pierce contended that no poor man could get an education for his children in such a school as this. The institution has depended too much on the territorial treasury during past years. The Olympia academy, a self-supporting institution, is just as good if not better than the university.

As regards the "slop hole" to which the attention of the committee had been called, the answer made was to the effect "that the city had not asked them to clean it." What an answer! The speaker was opposed to going down into the pockets of the poor people for the purpose of teaching Latin and Greek. The bill then went to a final vote with the following result: Ayes 7, noes 6.

Ayes—Messrs. Alexander, Allen, Clark, Holcomb, Kerr, Kincaid, Kuhn, O'Neil, Rees, Smith of King, Smith of Kickitat, Taylor, Van Eaton, Warman—14.

Nays—Messrs. Catlin, Dillon, Freeman, Judson, Smith of Whitman, Stern, Mr. Speaker—7.

So the bill passed.

H. B. 85, relating to retail licenses; passed.

C. B. 89, to amend act relating to foreign corporations; passed.

C. B. 91, to reimburse judges of district courts for expenses incurred in holding terms at which no U. S. business is transacted; killed, 10 ayes, 11 noes. Therefore judges of district courts shall have to pay their own expenses hereafter at such times.

C. B. 86, regulating the practice of medicine in this territory; passed without discussion.

C. B. 76, to punish gambling, and H. B. 46, declaring gambling, were both killed.

H. B. 80, incorporating the city of Spokan Falls; passed.

H. M. 12, for relief of Allen Porter; passed.

C. B. 99, for the preservation of fish and game in Walla Walla county; passed.

COUNCIL.

C. B. 101, by Hoover, to authorize the governor of Washington Territory to purchase a new shackle for convicts. The bill appropriates $300 for this purpose.

C. B. 102, by Mr. Graden, to provide for transportation of insane persons to the hospital for insane, and fixing rate of compensation therefor; passed.

C. B. 90, apportioning legislative representation, was made the special order for to-morrow.

C. B. 100, the habitual drunkard act; passed.

A joint resolution was adopted creating a joint committee to confer with the secretary of the territory with reference to the printing of the code.

H. B. 73, providing compensation for certain clerks; passed.

H. B. 74, appropriating money for reading matter for convicts in territorial penitentiary, passed.

C. B. 93, relative to taxing dogs in Clark county; tabled for term.

C. B. 103, by Mr. Hoover, fixing the rate for incidental printing.

C. B. 104, relating to foreign corporations.

C. B. 105, reported by committee on claims, making appropriation for the relief of C. Todd of Victoria; passed.

C. B. 106, for relief of C. Davis; passed.

H. B. 7, the pilot bill, killed by a unanimous vote, by that action the council showed its faith in the senate of Puse, and declared them an open roadway for the people to the settlement [illegible].

H. B. 69, to establish courts in second judicial district; passed.

Both houses then adjourned till to-morrow.

HOUSE.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 8.

H. B. 85, Kuhn, providing for protection of deer in Mason county.

H. B. 94, Moore, for the relief of Columbia county.

The house then resolved itself into a committee of the whole, Kuhn in the chair. At noon committee rose, reported progress. After which the house adjourned.

COUNCIL.

C. B. 108, to aid in constructing a wagon road across the Cascades; passed.

Mr. Hoover moved a vote of thanks to W. H. Robertson, official correspondent of THE OREGONIAN, for tabulated statement of the personnel of the present assembly; carried unanimously.

C. B. 109, Graden, to remove the capital to Cheney.

C. B. 110, Evans, in relation to recording instruments; passed.

AFTERNOON SESSION—HOUSE.

C. B. 97, relating to printing new code; passed.

C. B. 39, amending act establishing district courts in Pacific and second judicial districts; passed.

C. B. 96, to attach Yakima county to second judicial district; passed.

H. B. 84, appropriating money for a wagon road over Cascade mountains; bill killed.

H. B. 97, Smith of Kickitat, amending Goldendale city charter; passed. Dillon and Holcomb voting no.

H. B., Smith of Whitman, thanking correspondent of THE OREGONIAN for record of legislative assembly; adopted unanimously.

COUNCIL.

C. B. 80, conferring woman suffrage on Thurston county; killed. Ayes, 5; noes, 6; Calhoun and Hunter paired.

The remainder of the session was taken up in consideration of county commissioners' act.

SALEM NOTES.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

SALEM, Nov. 9.

Mrs. A. B. Crossman is visiting her parents in Yamhill county.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McCully have moved to Union county, where they will take up their residence.

Owing to temporary illness, Judge Wade was unable to-day to occupy his seat on the supreme bench.

Joe. Meyer and wife have just commenced married life in earnest by keeping house in their residence on Front street.

Deputy Sheriff W. L. Eppinger, of your city, paid Salem a flying visit to-day and delivered over to the prison authorities Chinn Charlie.

W. F. Boothby, Esq., supervising architect and superintendent of construction on the asylum building is confined to his room with illness.

Master Wiley Moores, son of Hon. I. R. Moores of this city, has accepted a clerkship in the Salem post-office, and will prove an efficient and popular clerk.

Gov. Thayer has appointed J. T. Simpson of Grand Round, notary public, and Frank H. Clarkson of St. Paul, Minn., commissioner for Oregon, to reside in that state.

The Pacific Coast Manufacturing Company of Portland, has filed as a trade mark in the office of secretary of state, the following: "The Climax Washing Powder."

D. Sweeney, Esq., overseer of mechanics on the asylum building, is a passenger on the incoming steamer, returning from a flying trip to San Francisco, where he was called by the sudden death of his brother.

Protection lodge No. 2, A. O. U. W., to-day forwarded to the grand recorder the duly attested notice of the death of Bro. James Dickinson with the view of securing for the family of the deceased the $2,000 insurance benefits of the order.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Moores are expected home from their wedding tour to-morrow, and will be warmly welcomed by a host of friends. Invitations are out for a reception to be tendered them on Friday evening, at the residence of Mrs. Jno. H. Moores on State street.

Capital Engine Co. No. 1, of this city, at its regular meeting appointed a committee consisting of W. L. Boise, A. B. Crossman and F. H. D'Arcy, to make arrangements for a grand entertainment to be given at an early day. It promises to be the event of the season.

Rev. F. P. Berry, the newly appointed pastor of the Presbyterian church in this city, has arrived from the east and preached his introductory sermon on Sunday last, creating a very favorable impression among his hearers. He was tendered a reception on Saturday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Patterson, which was largely attended and proved a very pleasant affair.

Should the weather continue pleasant during the next ten days, Thos. Mann, the enterprising building contractor of your city, will complete the brick work on the insane asylum building, which is now being pushed forward with astonishing rapidity, and the work, be it said to the credit of the board of building commissioners as well as the contractor, is being done in a workmanlike manner with a view to permanent efficiency. The roof is being put on as rapidly as the nature of the work will permit, and the entire building will be enclosed at an early day. The building is entirely enclosed, with the exception of the south ward and that is rapidly nearing completion. About twenty carpenterware constantly employed.
